Self-Care: Finding the Time

"The greatest weapon against stress is our ability to choose one thought over another."
-William James

If you have 10 minutes		If you have 30 minutes
Write in a journal	Call or spend time with a friend	Get a massage	Exercise vigorously
Meditate	Tidy your work area	Eat lunch with a co-worker	Take a bubble bath
Assess your self-care	Draw a picture	Read non-related work literature	Go for a walk and spend time in nature
Watch a sunrise or sunset	Dance	Go shopping for something fun	Practice yoga
Listen to soothing sounds	Surf the web for inspiring quotes	Watch your favorite TV show	Play a game with family/friends
Dood compathing for placeure	Est a most with family or friends	Listen to your favorite album	Cook a meal
Read something for pleasure	Eat a meal with family or friends	Write a positive letter or email	Discuss self-care, burnout, or
Review the past few hours to list 3 things you are grateful for and	to list. Take some quiet time to reflect on	to someone	compassion fatigue at a staff meeting
what has been sacred to you	your life and how you can ask for help	Have a "walking" meeting where you walk with colleague rather than meet in an office	Attend first Friday concert, view the art at TMC, go to Farmers Market
Talk to a friend, family member, or co-worker about a problem or frustration	Plan a meeting/celebration to ac- knowledge an accomplishment or milestone	Spend time in a garden, go for walk in nature	Visit a friend you haven't seen in a while
Discuss training opportunities with your supervisor	Take a brisk walk at your lunch break or when you get home from	Write down your goals and dreams	Read a story of someone who has faced adversity and overcome it with resilience & hope
	work	Volunteer for a cause you feel strongly about	Spend time with those you love
Take some quiet time in the TMC Chapel or another quiet place.	Add things to your work area that bring you joy- plants, photos, inspiring or funny quotes	Play with a child	Use transitions to/from work as "sacred space"

Self-Care: Finding the Time

Self-care does not have to be time consuming. As nice as it would be to take a 3 week vacation to a tropical island, most of us do not have the time or resources for that. Below are some tips for using the time you do have effectively.

TC.		h = 1 / =		mail mush a a
IT	you	nave	4	minutes

Take a few deep breathes

Doodle

Do some stretches

Acknowledge one of your accomplishments

Daydream

Say no to a new responsibility

Share a smile or laugh with a coworker

Complement yourself

Look out the window

Spend time with your pet

Let someone know that you may Leave a message or send an need some time to talk later in the day.

email to someone important to you, letting them know you are thinking of them.

Read or tell a good, appropriate

ioke

Make coffee

Note a strength or quality you value in someone else and share of gum it with them.

Have a cup of tea, coffee or a refreshing drink

Do an "Act of Kindness", no matter how small or humble

Sign up for a training opportunity

Suck on a peppermint or a stick

Look at a photo of someone you love

If you have 5 minutes...

Listen to music

Have a cleansing cry

Chat with a coworker

Sing out loud

Jot down your dreams

Step outside for fresh air

Enjoy a healthy snack

Check in with family/friends

Look at pictures of loved ones

Send an email that has been nagging you.

Have a conversation with some- Schedule a team meeting one you don't normally work with

Straighten up your desk or work Massage your forehead or hands area

Take a brisk walk to drop off something to another department

Run in place, do some jumping jacks, or touch your toes 10 times

Think of three things for which

Take a spiritual break

you are grateful.

Have a piece of dark chocolate

Take a quick break from technology